

Compression costs six times more on long-turn corpora than short-turn ones

